

IOE&IT Export Support Package

What is the Export Support Package?

The Institute of Export & International Trade is investing over £5m to support the Government's £1trn export target.

We want to support everyone in trade. We know first-hand how smaller businesses can struggle getting started on their export journey, but we're here to guide you through it.

It can be scary putting your business into international markets, but with our new Export Support Package, you can leave that fear and uncertainty behind. We have put together a bundle of free resources designed to help you easily and efficiently export your products globally.

How will it help?

This support package has been put together by industry experts, considering the most common and difficult obstacles faced by SMEs wanting to export.

It includes access to exclusive offers and information as well as opportunities to discuss export concerns or worries, so that you have the knowledge you need to overcome any obstacles.

What does the Export Support Package provide?

Export Readiness Review

Complete a simple questionnaire, so we can highlight any licenses or authorisations you need and pair you with a suitable expert. It allows us to identify any challenges and suitable training options.

Training

From your answers, we'll create a bespoke training programme of three courses that would be most beneficial based on our assessment of your needs.

Implementation

With guidance from IOE&IT professionals, we will work with you to tie up any loose ends, identifying ways to help you optimise your business.
